ARLINGTON, VA – May 25, 2011 – Gnarus Advisors LLC (Gnarus), a leading consulting firm specializing in expert analysis, litigation testimony and business advisory, announced today that the company has been named one of Consulting Magazine's "Seven Small Jewels" of 2011.

Each year, Consulting Magazine bestows its "Small Jewel" status on seven standout companies with fewer than 250 consultants. This year's article shines the spotlight on Gnarus' extraordinary growth from five billable consultants in 2007 to more than 40 today.

"This honor is a testament to the Gnarus team of experts and consultants, who bring years of experience and a wealth of resources to each matter we take on," said Stephen Sellick, founder and Managing Director of Gnarus. "Our success is the result of hard work and tireless dedication to excellence."

The Consulting Magazine article highlights Gnarus' innovative business model and the fact that the company is ideally structured to attract senior-level talent with a strong client base. Even though Gnarus launched only four years ago, many of the firm's clients have had long-term relationships with the consultants who advise them.

"The addition of top-level consultants and our relentless focus on making Gnarus a firm where our team can perfect its work without the unnecessary bureaucracy of larger firms have been the keys to our success so far," said Sellick. "By attracting experts who are already at the top of their fields, we're able to provide our existing clients with access to a broader and deeper level of expertise and our staff with greater opportunities for growth."

As one of Consulting Magazine's "Seven Small Jewels," Gnarus has established itself as a leader in the consulting industry and is poised for continued growth.
